Sudden Death.

John Foster, a native of Picton, Nova Scotia, dropped dead while at work yesterday. He is a ship carpenter by trade, has been in the country since December, 1885, came here on board the bark Mary T. Foster, and is well known in Puget Sound. He was working with Mr. Bruce, another carpenter, at Sorenson & Lyle's shop on Queen street, near the Fish Market. After helping to lift the end of a spar a small height he fell over, lying prostrate and breathing very heavily. He was immediately picked up and placed as comfortably as possible, while awaiting the arrival of Drs. Troussneau and Gray, who had been telephoned for. Within fifteen minutes and just before arrival of the doctors, he died. After the doctors pronounced him dead the body was carried to the Police Station.

An inquest was held last evening, the jury being John Magoon, M. Davis, W. G. Armstrong, H. Hart, L. Kanecke and G. L. Edwards.

Messrs. Robt. Laing and Bruce's testimony tended to show that the deceased was strongly addicted to drink. Mr. Laing testified that deceased was ailing during the past ten or twelve days, he went to some doctor who prescribed for him, did not know who the doctor was.

After the body had been brought to the Station Dr. Webb, after looking at it, as Deputy Pahia says, stated that he thought it was a case of heart disease.

The jury adjourned until one o'clock to-day, when the doctor's report will be expected.
